Be a gift to the world

Adrienne Golden
Executive Director, the Fuse Project.

Fuse Project is a local nonprofit organization dedicated to providing the spark for innovation, funding and implementation of projects benefiting children along Alabama's Gulf Coast. Fuse Project invests in initiatives promoting the health, fitness, education and social responsibility of our children.

Recently the Fuse Project took on the task of developing a co-working space in downtown Mobile geared at helping small non-profit groups.

Fuse Project is possibly most known for the Dragon Boat Race that is in its third year. The fundraising race puts 20 paddlers in a boat to race against 60+ other teams.

April is Maternal and Child Health Month

Our members improve access to essential medical services for mothers and their children. These efforts are aimed at reducing the number of children under age five who die each year because of malnutrition, inadequate health care, and poor sanitation – a figure that is currently estimated at 7 million.
According to another estimate, more than 80 percent of maternal deaths can be prevented with access to reproductive health services and trained health care workers. Our members provide education, immunizations, birthing kits, and mobile health clinics to support these causes. Women are taught how to prevent mother-to-infant HIV transmission, how to breast-feed, and how to protect themselves and their children from disease.
