

Dyslexia affects 15-20% of the population, causing difficulties in reading, writing, and spelling. It is confusing for the person who has it, and for their parents and teachers, who wonder how a seemingly bright student is unable to decode words. Often, parents and teachers mistake it for a lack of effort, which can be devastating to the student who is putting forth an amazing amount of effort.

The Prescott Unified Schools are hosting a free presentation on dyslexia by Susan Barton on Wednesday, March 30, from 6-9 PM at Ruth Street Theater. You will learn common myths about dyslexia, important facts about dyslexia, warning signs, and about research-based interventions that work. You must register to attend this free presentation.
