

Justin M. Fitzpatrick

USA Eagles Assistant Coach & Seattle Saracens Director of Rugby

Justin is the current USA Eagles assistant forwards coach, working alongside Head Coach Mike Tolkin, assisting to qualify the Eagles for the Rugby World Cup 2015 to be held in England in September and October later this year.

Justin turned to coaching when his own career as a professional player in Europe was ended due to injury. Before arriving in Seattle Justin had coached top Irish Club Dungannon to win all domestic trophies.

He took up the offer to Coach Seattle Saracens over two years ago, In his first season took the club to a National Final, today the Club is known as the top club within America.

Fitzpatrick played 18 seasons as a professional player with 3 of Europe's leading programs London Irish, Ulster and Castres Olympique and the Irish National Team. Over those two decades Justin was fortunate to win several pieces of silverware including the European Cup, French Cup and the Celtic League amongst other trophies as well as represent Ireland in a World Cup.