

National Heritage Areas

PLACE-BASED, COMMUNITY-DRIVEN
CONSERVATION & ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

How We Spent 2015

By the Numbers

National Heritage Areas expand on traditional conservation approaches by supporting large-scale, community-driven initiatives that engage communities in heritage preservation activities. National Heritage Area entities collaborate with stakeholders to determine how to make heritage relevant to local needs and interests. These entities serve as catalysts for community and economic development.

- $57 million leveraged last year to carry out a diversity of heritage projects and programs.
- 1,523 formal partners engaged in heritage area activities.
- 43,151 volunteers contributed over 1 million hours on heritage area projects.

Paddlers on the Schuylkill River outside Philadelphia, PA. Schuylkill River National Heritage Area coordinates the annual Schuylkill River Soujourn - a 112 mile guided canoe and kayak trip, which received a 2016 National Public Outreach Award from the American Society of Environmental History.

Preserving our Heritage. Across the country, National Heritage Areas and their partners are reviving historic downtowns, preserving battlefields and industrial sites, and sharing our nation's history through the arts.

- 230 historic sites and 6,182 acres of cultural landscapes preserved, including battlefields.
- 68 community development projects carried-out, including downtown streetscape improvement and art projects.
- 131 collections projects undertaken, including the conservation of artifacts and creation of oral histories.
- 73 historic preservation grants awarded in the amount of $847, 763.

Healthy Environment & People. Conservation activities led by National Heritage Area entities and their partners improve air and water quality and support healthy ecosystems.

- 11,000 acres of land restored through invasive species removal, replanting, and toxic site clean-up.
- 33 conservation grants awarded in the amount of $508,197.

Through recreational projects, such as Ohio and Erie Canalway's iTowpath Trail, National Heritage Areas are improving connectivity and accessibility, creating more vibrant and healthy communities.

- 91 recreation projects undertaken.
- 322 miles of trails maintained and 29 new miles of trails developed.
- 45 recreation grants awarded in the amount of $671,116.

Educating Current and Future Leaders. Through programs, such as Cache la Poudre National Heritage Area's El Espejo Summer Science Program for Girls, National Heritage Areas and their partners are educating future leaders in history and science.

- 210 educational programs were offered to over 1.8 million participants.
- 447 grants to support educational programs were awarded in the amount of $1.6 million.
