

Shenandoah District Church of the Brethren
Pastors for Peace presents ...

Why a Peace Church?

A biblical, theological, and historical conversation on why
Christ's people should stay in the peace business.

Saturday, November 23, 2013
Bridgewater College, Boitnott Room in Moomaw Hall
9:00 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. (Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.)

Jeff Bach, Church of the Brethren historian and Director of the Young Center for Anabaptist and Pietist Studies at Elizabethtown College, will speak and facilitate the day's conversations. The event is open to everyone. Clergy participants will earn .5 CEUs for the day.

Some themes for the day: Who's in charge? (Or: Why individual conscience is a bad idea.) What if everyone did that? When a Peace Church doesn't work for peace. And, Power Exposed: Jesus Christ and his flock.

Costs for the conversations include CEU expenses. Lunch is on your own through the college dining room, the Crimson Café, or at nearby restaurants in Bridgewater. Please register by Friday, November 15 through the Shenandoah District Office. Questions? Contact David R. Miller at drmiller.cob@gmail.com.
