

Hello, Nativity! I'm thrilled to be nominated to return to Congregation Council. A bit about me: My husband Brad and I have two children, Sarah (16) and John (13). We joined Nativity shortly after we moved to Arden from Chicago in the spring of 2005. I was previously a member of Congregation Council, from September 2007 to May 2012. My family enjoys spending time with our Nativity family in many ways: We volunteer at Welcome Table and the Veterans Quarters; I am a communion assistant; my husband chairs the Endowment Committee; and my children are active in youth group. For my day job, I'm the news director at the Asheville Citizen-Times and the editor of WNC Parent magazine. Outside of work and running kids around, I like to take cycling classes, bake, help out at TC Roberson and Cane Creek Middle, and travel with my family.
