

Workplace Update Seminar

12 May 2015

Port Macquarie and Coffs Harbour

Is your business compliant?

The repercussions of non-compliance can cost a business significantly. Staying up to date with your compliance obligations as an employer is also not easy.

NSW Business Chamber has committed to facilitating two state-wide Workplace Update Seminars per annum so that our members can stay abreast of impending changes; whilst at the same time ensure they are compliant with any recent changes.

This two hour briefing will cover:

- Modern Award changes that are in the pipeline such as accruals under the National Employment Standards, removal of transitional accident pay and district allowances.
- The facts about work experience, internships and unpaid work.
- Changes to apprentice rates and conditions (increases to Year 1, Year 2 and Adult rates).
- The worker's compensation scheme: how did last years small business reforms work out and what's proposed for medium-large business.
- Public holidays, part day public holidays and local event days - no shop trading restrictions.
- What the government intends to do with Single Touch Payroll and its implications for you.

Connect directly with our industrial relations specialists in this state-wide seminar series and use this opportunity to ask questions specific to your business.
