

An Evening of Female Comics
to benefit
Women Writing for (a) Change
Tuesday, July 30, 8:00 pm at Go Bananas Comedy Club

OUR COMICS

Featuring Angie Dallas

Stand-up Comedienne Angie Dallas started to hear from the age of 12 she was naturally funny. She started out acting and dancing at Cincinnati's School of Creative & Performing Arts. In 1994 she went to see a comedy show at the Ray Combs Comedy Club in Cincinnati, Ohio. She had everyone around her laughing so much they dared her to sign up for open mic night and she did. Once on stage and in front of a crowd she felt like she was at home and was bitten by the comedy bug.

While all of her counterparts were in full swing chasing fame & fortune, Angie put her dreams on hold to raise her son as a single parent. "He's Gone! Now it's my time. I'm about to let loose on everything from being a single parent to dating & divorce. I have a lot to say and I want to take you on a journey into the mind of a Hip-Hop Momma." "All I can say is Keeping It Real is going to a brand new level." Angie's quick wit and comedic timing makes her brand of comedy infectious and sure to bring a smile to your face. She has performed in venues from the Funnybone at Newport on the Levy, Gotham, The Laugh Factory and The Improv in NYC. She was one of the stars of the television series Nick@Nite's Search for the Funniest Mom in America. She also has appeared alongside DL Hugley and Sheryl Underwood. Angie is a shooting star on her way to being a household name.

Sweett Biscuit, Emcee

Sweett Biscuit has been entertaining audiences up and down the east coast for the last 15 years. She has also appeared at the Ohio, Michigan and Great Lakes Renaissance Festivals. Sweett Biscuit is the MC for Cin City Burlesque and has helped raise money for Glory Bound Saddles, NKY Pride and The Cincinnati Children's Hospital Neo-Natal Intensive Care Unit.

An Evening of Female Comics
to benefit
Women Writing for (a) Change
Tuesday, July 30, 8:00 pm at Go Bananas Comedy Club

Carla Brittain

After writing her “Bucket List”... Carla Brittain soon realized comedy was the only thing on that list that she could still afford to do. Armed with a dream and a New Year’s resolution she “disgraced the stage” at Go Bananas and was hooked. Rooftop Comedy chose three jokes to feature from her Go Bananas debut. The third time she took the stage yielded her a 1st place win at the Dayton Funnybone’s “Clash of the Comics” Comedy Competition in 2011. She has already shared the stage with Vince Morris, Saleem, and recently opened for Linda Belt and Lisa Landry. Keep your eyes on this up and coming comedian. And while you’re at it... get ready to laugh!

Célèste Brott

Célèste was a founding member of the comedy show Underbelly which ran monthly at the late, great Southgate House, and was named "Best Comedy Show of the Year" by Cincinnati Magazine. She has been involved with Women Writing for (a) Change since 2007, and is very excited to be a part of this event.

An Evening of Female Comics
to benefit
Women Writing for (a) Change
Tuesday, July 30, 8:00 pm at Go Bananas Comedy Club

Ally Bruener

Ally Bruener is a stand-up comedian based in Louisville, Kentucky. After being diagnosed with Muscular Dystrophy and fully wheelchair-bound at a young age, she found her voice as a self-advocate and affirmed that her rightful place in the world is in front of a crowd. As a graduate of the Underground Comedy School, Ally made a name for herself as a quickly rising amateur for bookers to keep an eye on. She has been a finalist in many regional Midwest contests, as well as the winner of the 2011 Cincinnati Laff Off and member of the Best of the Bluegrass series. Ally has been featured in "Abilities" magazine and "The Comic Bible" and on podcasts such as "This Week in Louisville" and "No Free Rides." As she pushes the lines of political correctness, her sardonic demeanor often steals the hearts of a shocked audience. LaughedAtTheCrippledGirl.com

Teri Folz

Teri is a retired high school English teacher who started her hobby as a stand-up comic while she was still teaching. She was inspired by a student who tried his hand at open mics and encouraged her to do the same. Her comedy is inspired by the educational system, marriage (she's been married for 31 years), raising boys (her sons are 27 and 30), and general observations about life. She most enjoys performing for fundraisers!

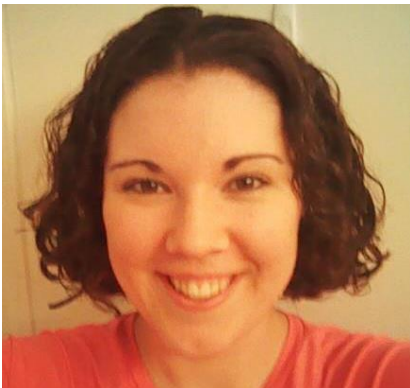

Teri has twice made it to the finals in The Funniest Person in Cincinnati contest! She has opened for Tim Cavanaugh and John Evans at the best comedy club in the world, Go Bananas! She has also studied theatrical improv and acting and has directed many, many plays! She recently sold two of her comedy clips to the online sitcom "It's Just a Stage." Teri is now writing a play about the life of high school teachers. You can read her blog at www.outtateri'smind.com. She is a proud member of Women Writing for (a) Change!

An Evening of Female Comics
to benefit
Women Writing for (a) Change
Tuesday, July 30, 8:00 pm at Go Bananas Comedy Club

Molly Stephens

Molly Stephens is a brand-spanking-new face to Cincinnati comedy. Having always had a preference for the quirky and unusual side of life, she brings a fresh perspective to the stage. Employing a range from deadpan one-liners to elaborate and outrageous stories, Molly lives for shock value. A recent graduate of the University of Louisville, Molly had been a part of the LGBT activism community; she brings the same level of passion to every aspect of her life. At any given time, she can be found working on new material or watching videos of cats on the Internet.

Eileen Tull

Eileen was born and raised in Cincinnati, OH to the greatest family in the world. In 2005, she headed to the Windy City to attend Loyola University of Chicago to study theatre. After graduating in 2009, Eileen worked in Chicago theatre as a director, writer, actress, stage manager, and producer. In June of 2011, she moved to the Bay Area to have a California adventure. Now Eileen is back in Cincinnati, open to the next adventure, whatever and wherever that may be. www.eileentull.com