

California Naturalist Program

The Santa Barbara Botanic Garden is partnering with the UCSB Natural Reserve System to offer this innovative UC program. Join a committed corps of volunteer naturalists and citizen scientists ready to take an active role in local natural resource conservation, education, and restoration. Provides the foundational curriculum to become a Santa Barbara Botanic Garden or UCSB Natural Reserve docent.

Class and field sessions held at the Santa Barbara Botanic Garden and Sedgwick, Coal Oil Point, and Carpinteria Salt Marsh UC Natural Reserves, and Arroyo Hondo Preserve. Taught by local expert guest speakers, classes provide a broad overview of California Natural History while helping participants to become skilled interpreters, citizen scientists and land stewards of the Santa Barbara region.

10 Saturdays: February 22, March 1, 8, 22, and 29, April 5, 12 and 26, May 3 and 10

Fee: $160 for current and future SBBG and UCNRS volunteers $320 for others. 4 units of lower division college credit available for an additional $80 upon completion of program requirements.

---

Application available on the website: www.sbbg.org

For more information on the California Naturalist Program, contact SBBG Education Program Manager, Frédérique Lavoipierre, at flavoipierre@sbbg.org or tel. (805) 682-4726 ext. 111