EVOLUTION OF THE TRANSEPT: GERMAN GOTHIC CHURCH TO ELEGANT EVENT SPACE

Cincinnati, OH,— Rich Cincinnati history is being preserved in the renovation of the German gothic church on the corner of Washington Park in Over-The-Rhine. Within the walls of the old church, the Transept evolves. The Transept, Cincinnati's newest event facility, offers sophisticated spaces for weddings, meetings, receptions and social gatherings.

This fully renovated space transformed St. Johns Evangelical Protestant Church, originally built in 1886, into a unique space for events and meetings. The $4.7 million renovation includes 50 foot ceilings, a fully restored bell tower, stained glass windows and over 13,000 square feet of space. The innovative event space combines ornate design and historic preservation, with a reinvented purpose in order to offer unbelievable experiences to its future guests. The venue also offers a private bridal suite, tucked away in the church's bell tower, as well as The Vestry, the in-house bar open to the public.

The Transept is now booking online at www.thetransept.com.

The Transept:

As Cincinnati's premier event space, nestled in the southwest corner of Washington Park, The Transept transforms the historic German gothic church into a world-class venue for weddings, meetings, receptions and social gatherings. Embark on an adventure down the aisle, create a revolutionary business idea, cultivate relationships, and discover your passion in this transformative venue. As a historic preservation where design meets significance, The Transept brings new life to weddings, special occasions, meetings, and community events. The Transept is a place where people intersect. A place where two families become one through marriage, two friends come together for a night of fun, and a board of colleagues catalyze their next big idea.

Grounded in rich history, The Transept carries great significance for Cincinnati. As it formerly stood, Old St. John's was the first German-American congregation in Cincinnati. The combination of stunning design, classical significance, and re-imagined purpose will give those who experience The Transept a truly unforgettable experience.
