Elisabeth Corey, MSW

*Founder
Beating Trauma
North Chesterfield, VA*

Elisabeth is a survivor of family-controlled child sex trafficking and sex abuse. Her education in social work and her personal experiences as a survivor inform her intimate dialogue about the biological, psychological, social, and spiritual aspects of trauma recovery, which she discusses on her blog at BeatingTrauma.com. She writes about breaking the cycle of abuse through conscious parenting, navigating intimate relationships as a survivor, balancing the memory recovery process with daily life, coping with self-doubt, and overcoming the physical symptoms of a traumatic childhood. She guides other survivors as they navigate life and parenting with private sessions, workshops, and a forum. She also works with media and organizations through her workshops, writing, and speaking. Follow her on Twitter and Facebook.

Michael Kimmel, PhD

*Professor and Author
Stony Brook University
Stony Brook, NY*

Dr. Kimmel is among the leading researchers and writers on men and masculinity in the world today. He is Distinguished Professor of Sociology and Gender Studies at Stony Brook University, where he directs the Center for the Study of Men and Masculinities. Kimmel is the author of more than 20 books, including Manhood in America: A Cultural History (1996), which was hailed as the definitive work in the field.

Kimmel served as an expert witness for the U.S. Department of Justice in the VMI and Citadel cases. He has consulted with all the Ministries for Gender Equality in the Nordic countries, and was the first man to deliver the International Women's Day lecture at the European Parliament, the Council of Europe, the European Commission, and the European Space Agency. Kimmel has lectured at over 300 colleges and universities, and offered presentations at many of the world's leading corporations on engaging men in support of gender equality.

Fifty Shades of Consent

Tuesday, December 1, 2015

10:00 am - 4:00 pm

Registration Fee: $50

Consent in Corrections: What health care professionals need to know about the care of sexual assault victims under the supervision of the Department of Corrections and the Department of Juvenile Justice.

The Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003, or PREA, is a federal act that set standards for practices to detect, prevent, and respond to sexual abuse in detention facilities. As the Commonwealth of Kentucky has been actively implementing the PREA standards and ensuring service provision for incarcerated survivors, it is important for healthcare professionals to be knowledgeable about what they may encounter when treating this population. During this workshop, a basic overview of the PREA will be provided, as well as interactive case studies and a professional panel, to assist nurses in understanding the law and identifying unique issues surrounding work with this population. Discussion will focus on the complex concept of consent as applied to incarcerated survivors.

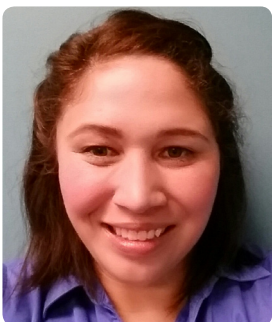

This workshop is designed to meet the five-hour training requirement for SANEs and CNEs.

"Dreamers & Doers: Voices of Kentucky Women"

Wednesday, December 2, 2015

10:00 - 11:45 am

Registration Fee FREE

Registration is limited to program staff of KASAP, KCADV, and KACAC

Join us as we feature this hour-long documentary that profiles more than 40 Kentucky women and their achievements. This documentary is based on the Kentucky Women Remembered (KWR) exhibit displayed in the state Capitol.

The documentary, produced by Michael Breeding Media Inc., provides insight into the role women have played and their valuable contributions to the history, growth, and development of the Commonwealth. It shows the impact women have had in science, literature, politics, arts, education, business, religion, athletics, entertainment, and the military in Kentucky.

"I'm thrilled this documentary will show every Kentuckian the significant accomplishments of Kentucky women now and throughout our history." Gov. Beshear said. "My administration has worked hard to advance and support women, because women offer vital voices, leadership and insight. As the husband of an outstanding advocate for Kentucky and as the Governor whose lieutenant governor is an accomplished public servant, I will continue to advocate and partner with women at every level."

The documentary is a starting point for continuing research on the contributions of women, said Eleanor Jordan, executive director of the Kentucky Commission on Women and executive producer of the documentary.

"It will be a catalyst to urge historians, educators, students, and others to fill in more of the gaps while demonstrating how damaging the injustice of gender inequity in Kentucky history has been," she said.

Toyota, The Gheens Foundation, Frontier Nursing University and the Kentucky Arts Council provided major funding for the documentary.

Session B
Thursday, December 3RD
10:15-11:45 AM

B1: The Complex Trauma Journey

Elisabeth Corey, MSW, Beating Trauma, North Chesterfield, VA

How does trauma affect a survivor as they journey through life? We have only recently been able to understand the holistic impact of complex trauma on a survivor. Experts are beginning to openly discuss the impact of trauma on the brain, body, and soul. As a survivor of trauma who has embraced holistic recovery, my awareness has led me to a deep understanding of the impact of trauma. I discuss my experiences with trauma by highlighting the physical, sexual, mental, emotional, relational, spiritual, and parental impacts. I also describe one recovery model and my personal methods for discovering the traumatic influence on my own holistic system. These methods include cognitive therapy, group work, body work, and daily awareness practices. All • Intervention • All

B2: Tools for Effective Nonprofit Governance and Management

C3: Shared Risk & Resiliency Factors: Organizing for Impact

Melissa Paris, MSSW, The Center for Women & Families, Louisville, KY
Khalilah Collins, MSW, The Center for Women & Families, Louisville, KY

"A good solution solves multiple problems." There are a number of shared risks and resiliency factors in common among multiple forms of violence – which means you're not alone in your prevention efforts. Rather than working in isolation to reduce risk factors and enhance resiliency factors, we can pursue innovative collaborations for the most impactful prevention efforts.

C8: Understanding the Impact of Non-Typical Communication

Beverly Franz, PhD, Temple University Institute on Disabilities, Philadelphia, PA

The goal of this workshop is to create awareness and build capacity for survivors with complex communication needs. Communication, regardless of the mode, is essential in reporting sexual violence and requesting support from victim services. People with complex communication needs are individuals who have significant difficulty being understood. It has been suggested that the "best" victim is the one who cannot tell.
