A unique public/private partnership between the Department of Mental Health, Brigham and Women’s Hospital, and the Roxbury Tenants of Harvard has led to the much-celebrated redevelopment of the Massachusetts Mental Health Center in Boston’s Longwood Medical Area. On Thursday, November 3, 2011 Massachusetts Mental Health Center invites the Boston community to visit our new Center at 75 Fenwood Road and 20 Vining Street. The Center, with a near 100-year history in the neighborhood, returns to its roots in two adjacent state-of-the-art facilities that will open for business the following Monday, November 7, 2011.

Open House Tours / Reception
Tours of both new buildings will take place continuously during the November 3rd Open House. Visitors will have an opportunity to view clinical, case management, training and research space at 75 Fenwood Road, as well as the Partial Hospitalization Program and Fenwood Inn in the adjacent building at 20 Vining Street. Light refreshments will be served.

Parking / Directions
Limited parking will be available in the open parking lot at the corner of Vining and Fenwood Road. The entrance to the lot is on the access road off Vining Street. Additional parking can be found in public parking lots in the area, including the BWH ServiCenter Garage at 70 Francis Street.

The center is accessible by the Green Line (D Line Riverside to the Longwood stop, or E Line Heath Street to the Brigham stop) and bus routes No.8, 19, 39, 47, 60, 65, 66, making stops in the Longwood Area within walking distance of the Center.
