6 College Scholarships for High School Juniors

Doodle 4 Google

The Doodle 4 Google contest has been taking place each year since 2008. Students K-12 are invited to create a Google doodle that will be featured on the Google web page for a day. Winners are also granted a $30,000 college scholarship and some pretty fabulous prizes, including a computer and a trip to Google to meet the doodlers. The winners' current school is also given a $50,000 education grant. Learn more about Doodle 4 Google

Prudential Spirit of Community Award

Two winners are selected from each state and the District of Columbia for the Prudential Spirit of Community Award, a $1,000 scholarship awarded yearly to students with exemplary community service records. Of the 102 state winners, 10 national winners are chosen for an additional $5,000 scholarship. Winners also participate in national recognition events in Washington DC and receive an engraved silver medal.

DormBedding.com #FortOnFleek Scholarship

As a kid, building forts was one of the best possible rainy day activities. They encompassed everything from the simple, single blanket and a couple of chairs, to the elaborate, take-up-the-entire-living-room variety. Juniors looking to put those skills to good use are invited to enter the #FortOnFleek Scholarship contest put on by DormBedding.com. Entrants simply need to build a fort out of sheets, blankets, and other bedding items, post a photo of their fort on instagram with the hashtag #FortOnFleek, and tag @dormbedding. The winner receives a $1,000 scholarship. Learn more about the #FortOnFleek Scholarship

Gen and Kelly Tanabe Scholarship

High school students are invited to submit an essay of 250 words or less to be eligible for this $1,000 scholarship. Essays answer one of two questions posed on the application, or can be on any topic that the applicant chooses. Applicants are even allowed to reuse an essay that they have previously written for a class, college application, or scholarship competition.
