

Skills Development Scotland would like to make you aware of the new Oil and Gas Transition Training Fund (TTF).

What is the Fund?

The purpose of the TTF is to assist individuals from the oil & gas sector who have lost, or are at risk of losing their job, with training grants to redeploy in the oil and gas sector or, wider energy, engineering and manufacturing sectors.

The criteria and eligibility for the Fund have been finalised and are available on My World of Work with links to the application site itself www.transitiontrainingfund.co.uk. In addition, four advisors from our North East CIAG region have been identified as TTF Advisors. It will be their role to support those individuals who wish to access the Fund. Here in Fife, the advisor is Corinne Milligan.

What should I do if someone is interested in applying to the Fund?

If a client expresses interest in the Fund and wants to apply, please refer them to the online webpage above which contains the criteria for application and the next steps. If they are eligible for support, they should complete the online application process and one of our dedicated regional TTF Advisors will be in touch to discuss their application.

If you have any further questions on the TTF please contact Corinne.Milligan@sds.co.uk
