

SAVE THE DATE

May 15-17, 2015

2015 Charles Mraz Apitherapy Course and Conference (CMACC)

Sheraton LaGuardia East Hotel
135-20 39th Avenue Flushing, NY 11354
718-460-6666

Contact: The American Apitherapy Society, Inc.

aasoffice@apitherapy.org

The American Apitherapy Society proudly announces its 19th annual Charles Mraz Apitherapy Course & Conference to be held in the heart of Flushing, New York conveniently located only three miles from New York's LaGuardia airport, ten miles from New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, and approximately 12 miles from Manhattan, New York City. This location is also easily accessed by the Long Island Railroad and the NY Subway system making a trip into Manhattan a breeze.

Medical doctors, a spectrum of Holistic Health Practitioners, Veterinarians, Researchers, Backyard Beekeepers, and members of the general public interested in self-reliant health care will convene from all over the United States and the world to learn about Apitherapy. Apitherapy, an ancient healing modality, refers to the therapeutic use of products from the beehive including honey, pollen, royal jelly, propolis, and bee venom therapy.

Attendees will be educated in the therapeutic properties of each of the hive products including a hands on bee venom therapy session where participants will obtain practical experience and learn to be self-reliant with this amazing healing practice. Presentations are given by the CMACC faculty and guest speakers who are some of the most prominent and experienced Apitherapists in the world. Examples of material covered in these presentations are allergic reactions, techniques of BVT, informed consent and legal issues, propolis and its many uses, veterinary apitherapy, wound healing, and much more. The preliminary program detailing material to be presented will be posted on the website shortly. Back by popular demand, we will be offering two levels of the course offering basic information to those new to Apitherapy and more advanced information to those already experienced with Apitherapy. This year we will also be offering for the very first time a special 3 hour practical workshop on Sunday afternoon for those wanting to leave with more practical experience than ever before! Certificates of completion will be available to all participants.

The AAS is a nonprofit membership organization established primarily for the purpose of education in the advancement of Apitherapy. CMACC has been named in memory of Charles Mraz, an American pioneer in the use of bee venom to treat many health issues and conditions.

Event registration will open on March 1, 2015 at www.apitherapy.org where with a single click you can access all CMACC information, register and pay online. Don't miss out on the EARLY BEE DISCOUNT by making sure you register by Tuesday March 31, 2015. Hotels can be booked separately by using the hotel link on the website. Take advantage of special room rates only available until April 1, 2015 at the host hotel and April 30, 2015 at another hotel by booking your room early. If you choose not to stay at the host hotel, a list of nearby hotels has been provided and all of them offer free transportation to and from NY LaGuardia Airport. Join us for the Friday night dinner reception to socialize and relax with others while enjoying Asian cuisine at a nearby restaurant. A one year membership or renewal with AAS valued at $50.00 is included with the course fee. Looking forward to seeing you there!