

Suzie Frasier: Organic

Room for 3 designers

Rm 105: Eileen Dorsey Sole artist in space. Landscapes. Works in her space.

Most hesitant; mostly I think due to unfamiliarity. Also fear that the designers will detract from Sales. She said 2 designers, however it may be best for just one.

Rm 106: Michael Greenwald. Abstract Landscapes. Could be excellent for a commercial setting.

Has experience with working with interior designers. Quiet. Will want interaction to make sure he and designers are a good fit. He's good for 2 spaces.

Room 107: Laurel Herbold, sole artist of space but works in a variety of mediums. Already working with the design community, so very comfortable collaborating with 2 designers.

Room 108: Micro Art Space Michelle is the curator. New artist each month. A strong point of view.

A very contemporary installation. A very tight collaboration between designer/artist/Michelle.

Think lighting, sound, technology: a happening. These tools we designers work with daily, and it

Intrigues Michelle.

Room 109: Zach Photographer leases out walls to 5 other artists

Very easy to work with. Large space for 3 spaces

Room 110: Cleveland West Art League An art coop 6: 2 person shows a year

Jeanine: Need a Board decision: Dan

Room 111: Too Much Awesomeness Graphic designers to be contacted

If interested: they could use the common area in front of their space

Room 112: 3 artists sharing a retail space. Spoke with CristinaSadowski.

Billy Nainiger and Richard Cihlar not spoken with. Not a great space.

Too much going on, and they will be concerned about losing sales.

Room 112 B Presently occupied by architect Mark Yeager. He expects the space to be vacant
In a month or so. Good space for 2 designers. Blank slate. I wonder if owner will try to find a Tenant before September??

Room 113: Dawn Tekler with Jamilla Naji, and Bunny Page Jewelry. Very enthusiastic.

Room for 2 designers

Room 115: Betsy and Ron: one designer Think Romantic, 19th century Impressionistic

Shabby chic?

Common Area

