

Sofia Matsi studied Chemistry (B.A) and Arts (MFA) and she is an active member of the world-wide movement “Movement of Life” where she coordinates actions of sustainability and resilience in the fields of natural health, food, water and energy. She is trained in Permaculture Design Systems and her work concentrates on designing and creating natural eco-systems that respect both our health and our environment.