NEW CONVERSATIONS, NEW STORIES:
COURAGEOUS ACTS & NEW CAPACITIES

Join us for a highly participative inquiry into how new stories and new conversations allow us to thrive within the "cracking open" of our world today.

How can we join together across generations & other traditional boundaries to shape the conversations and stories that reveal new opportunities in the face of today’s challenges?

How can we take back the power of our own stories?

How can we become "awake" to the stories we are living & consciously choose the stories we are living into?

REGISTER NOW

This session will be a free introduction to The Virtual Story Dojo co-hosted by Mary-Alice Arthur & Amy Lenzo, with special contributions from Juanita Brown & others. Check back here for more info as it becomes available.

February 22
11am-12:30pm PT
2-3:30pm ET
8 - 9:30pm GMT+1

February 23
6-7:30am GMT+10
8-9:30am GMT+12

ONLINE

Together we'll engage in an exploratory conversation about the power of story, the courage it takes to step into change, and the new capacities demanded of us in co-creating positive futures today.

We’ll be using the latest in virtual engagement tools to participate across cultures and generations, connecting in "real time" all around the world for this important conversation.

"The story was the bushman’s most sacred possession. These people knew what we do not; that without a story you have not got a nation, or culture, or civilization. Without a story of your own, you haven’t got a life of your own."

~ Laurens Van der Post