Investment Expert Pens “1001 Truths about Investing”

(Newport Beach, CA, Feb. 11, 2011) - Wade Slome, CFA, CFP®, author of How I Managed $20,000,000,000.00 by Age 32, is proud to announce his newest book release, 1001 Truths about Investing (Volume I). From his humble beginnings of participating in high school stock market competitions, this Cornell University MBA graduate went on to conquer the professional world as a manager of one of the largest multi-billion dollar funds in the country at the ripe, young age of 32 years old. Since then, Slome has engaged in a new challenge of building a top-notch investment management firm in Newport Beach, California (Sidoxia Capital Management – www.Sidoxia.com), where he manages private client investment portfolios and a hedge fund.

In his newly released book, 1001 Truths about Investing, Slome not only opens the eyes of individual investors to the common dangers and pitfalls of investing and financial planning, but he also reveals the vast opportunities and resources available to them in order to preserve and create wealth.

“The expanding technology revolution and globalization trends affecting our daily lives are having immense impacts on worldwide asset values and political movements, representing huge opportunities, and threats, for all investment portfolios,” says Slome.

“Our structurally flawed financial system of loosely regulated, banks, brokerage firms, insurance companies, ratings agencies, hedge funds, mutual funds, and other financial institutions continue to repeatedly place their interests ahead of clients.”

Learning the “1001 Truths” of investing will empower readers to take control of their financial futures and navigate through the multitude of conflicts of interest prevalent in the industry.
