

DC Diaper Bank

The DC Diaper Bank, founded in 2010 works to provide a reliable and adequate supply of free diapers to families in need living in the D.C. metropolitan area. Though it may seem a small thing, by making available a consistent supply of clean diapers, D.C. Diaper Bank instantly improves the life of a family.

One in three mothers has reported running out of diapers for their child on a regular basis. These babies are left in a single diaper all day or they must reuse disposable diapers. You can imagine the discomfort and diaper rash that follows. The DOOBIM along with the other two's classes are holding a diaper drive to benefit the D.C. Diaper Bank. The educators feel that the children can connect with this idea and gain an understanding of helping other children. The diaper drive will start Tuesday February 2nd, 2016
