Use Your Experience to Earn Your Doctor of Information Technology (DIT)

Walden University is designed to meet the unique needs of adult learners, with graduate-level programs created to help you advance even further in your career. Our DIT is offered online and features two tracks.

Track I is for those who've completed a technical master's degree and may be eligible to apply some of those credits toward a doctorate.

For those who hold a bachelor's degree, Track II allows them to complete a master's degree as they earn their DIT through Walden's "Master's Along the Way" program.

Whether you work in the private or public sector, consulting, or academia, Walden's DIT program can help you gain the skills and knowledge to advance to the next level in your career.
