“Traces of the Trade: A Story from the Deep North”

Join us for a special documentary film showing. Find out what happened when filmmaker, Katrina Browne, makes a troubling discovery while investigating her family tree. Her New England ancestors were the largest slave-trading family in U.S. history. The documentary follows her and nine descendants as they set off to retrace the Triangle Trade: from their old hometown of Bristol, Rhode Island to slave forts in Ghana to sugar plantation ruins in Cuba.

Date: Wednesday, February 12th, 2014

When: 1pm (90-minute film)

Where: The Howland Public Library, 313 Main St., Beacon, NY

“I was shocked again when I realized that instead of being the exception, the DeWolfe family was just the tip of the iceberg of the vast complicity to slavery in New England.”
