

Unveiling the Anatomy of the Stitch

TUNISIAN CROCHET: EXPLORING A HYBRID TECHNIQUE

With Lisa Daehlin

Where: The Howland Public Library, Beacon, NY

When: Saturday, April 20th

Time: 1 – 3pm

Free, but prior registration at Library's front desk is required.

Prerequisite: Know how to make a chain and a single crochet.

A hybrid of knitting and crocheting, you will learn how to make the basic Tunisian Crochet stitches (simple knit/purl), that result in a fabric with a beautiful woven quality.

Materials needed: Crochet hook (size h, i or j). (This can be a Tunisian/afghan hook, but a regular hook without ergonomic or other thick handle would be fine, too.) Two small balls of dk or worsted weight yarn in different colors.

Lisa Daehlin is a knitting designer and opera chanteuse. She teaches in ventures such as the Newark Museum and the American Folk Art Museum in New York. She is also a continuing education member at The Cooper Union. Her designs can be seen in Vogue Knitting, Interweave Knits, and Knit Simple.
