

Blythewood Lions Distribute Books to Students

Lions Bob Cox and Victoria Dixon-Mokeba shopped at Scholastic Books' End of Year sale with a goal to purchase a book for every child at Carolina School for Inquiry (CSI) so that each child had a special book to take home for the summer. Together they purchased 187 books valued at over $2,000. Due to the special pricing they paid less than $150 for all the books! Lion Victoria shared that while they were shopping at Scholastic Books, the person serving them shared with them that her first pair of glasses were purchased by the Lions Club. The lady vowed to do anything to help others and to support Lions anyway that she could. Lions Bob and Victoria were touched by her story and hope that you are too!

During the end of year awards event at CSI, Lion Bob along with Lion Mary Louise Resch (dressed as Doko the Lion) presented each child their very own book. There were even extra books to be added to the school library.

Photo Left: Doko (Lion Mary Louise Resch) enjoys celebrating with students at CSI!

