

Are you folks aware just how tremendously cool Pirelli World Challenge (PWC) racing is?

PWC is the featured series for our traditional Memorial Day Weekend season-opener May 27-29. Do you mind if we try to do it justice by telling you about it in this email?

First of all, PWC is the racing playground for virtually every “hot car” automaker selling in the U.S. Are you an avid Audi nut? A Caddy cognoscente? A Ferrari Fanboy? Mavens of McLaren and Mercedes? BMW and Bentley Boys? Take a look at this impressive list of the PWC GT and GTS race cars that will be here Memorial Day weekend...

Acura TLX-GT	Ford Mustang Boss 302
Aston Martin Vantage GT3 & GT4	Kia Optima
Audi R8 LMS Ultra	Lamborghini Gallardo FL2 GT3
Audi TT RS	McLaren 650S GT3
Bentley Continental GT3	Mercedes-Benz SLS AMG GT3
BMW Z4 GT3 E89	Nissan GT-R NISMO GT3
Cadillac ATS-V.R. GT3	Porsche 911 GT3R
Chevy Camaro Z28	Scion FR-S GTS
Dodge Viper GT3R	Subaru WRX Sti
Ferrari 458 Italia GT3

Each starts as a production car, then safety, aerodynamic, suspension, driveline and engine modifications are made per the rules and regulations. Some body parts can be replaced with carbon-composites. The whole idea is to minimize the number of modifications from the factory-sold car. Tires are Pirelli P Zero racing slicks and wets. The end result is a race car with 425 to 525 horsepower that looks – and is – very much like the car some of you drove to Lime Rock in!

Because PWC is very good at balance of performance regulations, every race is super-close, super competitive and needless to say, damned exciting. These races are sprint races. Fast and furious. One hour from the frantic start to the inches-apart finish.

Friday and Saturday are filled to the brim with on-track action. On Friday, May 27, in addition to practice and qualifying all morning, there are two Pirelli World Challenge races and a Formula 4 U.S. Championship race. (U.S. F4 is all-new, and Lime Rock is its world debut! This series looks like it'll be as exciting and competitive as the Formula Atlantic series was.)

Saturday, May 28, there are four races: Two more PWC races and two more U.S. F4 races, plus autograph sessions and a free pre-race Fan Grid Walk.

And Sunday May 29 is the spring's best car show in the Tri-State area, the Seventh Annual Royals' Car Show, 400 of the best machines owned by real people with real lives – it's the anti-concours concours.

We hope we've been articulate enough to describe why this a must-do weekend for Lime Rock fans. Thanks for reading.
