Julie LeHITE Artist of the sea

Julie LeHITE's art journey began over 15 years ago. She attended fine art institutes at an early age including the School of Visual Arts in New York City, Parsons School of Design in Paris and The Art Institute of Miami. In 2004 she received her B.F.A. from the Ai of Miami and began her career as a designer. Her passion remained deeply rooted in fine art. In 2015 Julie's art was exhibited by The Fearless Artist gallery in Wynwood during Art Basel week in Miami. In 2016 her illustrations debuted on Ocean Goddess Apparel, a brand of beach wear exclusively for women. Julie LeHITE has also collaborated with the brand Bucketfeet. Her hand painted illustration titled, "Senses" is now a featured design for the worldly known brand.

Julie's favorite mediums are ink and gouache on paper. She tends to keep her work playful and seductively impelling in hopes to make her audience become reacquainted with their genuine selves. Her art is strongly influence by the vibrant lifestyle of South Florida. Her work explores the sea and all it's creatures with a feminine touch.

Julie strongly believes with art anything is possible, even the possibility of inspiring awareness to help protect our oceans.

"Senses" Bucketfeet Shoe Design by Julie LeHITE

In February of 2016, Julie LeHITE's sneaker design "Senses" hit the market. Her playful illustrations became a featured women's slip on sneaker in both the U.S. and other international markets such as China, Hong Kong, Korea, Lebanon, Spain, Taiwan, Turkey and the United Kingdom. Bucketfeet is a shoe company that believes art is for everyone. Each shoe is uniquely designed by a different artist allowing their art to be seen and bought all over the world.

The "Senses" design created by Julie was created from ink and gouache by the artist. Her design is indicative of her compelling, playful aesthetic—a style she's honed to help audience's cut away from the noise of everyday life and tap into their authenticity.
