The Kazanjian Foundation maintains a vital interest in the overall efforts to increase economic literacy. Special attention is given to proposals and projects with national impact that addresses the following issues:

- Elevating the nation's understanding of the need for economic education, including programs that raise various public's participation in economic education and/or create a demand for greater economic literacy.
- Application of new strategies for teaching economics including on-line and web-based instruction.
- Projects, policy studies, or programs that encourage measurement of economic understanding more often and/or more effectively.
- Programs that help otherwise disenfranchised youth and/or young adults with children learn to participate in the economic system are very important to the Foundation.

The Foundation does not use a specific application form. Instead, applicants should develop a proposal of no more than 10 pages using the "criteria for evaluation" on this website as a guideline.
