FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Calling all Photographers!

Submit scenes of South County to the 2016 South County Hospital Wall Calendar contest.

WAKEFIELD, R.I. – Tues., July 7, 2015 – Amateur photographers are invited to submit photos of South County for South County Hospital's 2016 wall calendar. This year, for the first time, South County Hospital is expanding the contest to include submission of inspirational quotations, too.

The "Scenes of South County" calendar—launched in 2010—is a full color annual publication depicting South County (Washington County) in all four seasons—winter, spring, summer, and fall. It features 29 photographs: two photos for each month, plus one for the calendar's cover and four for the back. The name of each photographer whose photo is chosen appears in a caption next to his or her work. An inspirational quote is included with the large photo for each of the 12 months.

The calendar is unveiled in November 2015 at a special reception for all contest entrants, the winners, and their families. During the reception, a video of every photo submitted is shown on a large screen, and the evening ends with an awards ceremony for the winners. Each of the 29 winning photographers and the 12 winning inspirational quotation submitters are awarded a prize.

After the reception, every photograph that was submitted for the contest is posted in a special album on South County Hospital's website, where it can be viewed for 30 days!

To enter the contest, please follow the guidelines and rules listed on schospital.com. Contest deadline is Tues, Sept. 1 by noon.

For questions, call 401 788-1173.
