Do you want more positive on-line reviews from your customers? The biggest complaint auto repair consumers have is lack of communication from the shop. There is a sure fire way to help you solve this problem in your shop. Jeremy will walk you through his personalized proactive communication system that he used when personally working with 25 cars per day as a service advisor. Then through an effective communication and strategy plan, Jeremy will show you how to inspire your customers to go online and leave a positive review. This system works for shops of all sizes and will guarantee an increase in your positive online reviews!
