Become a Lunapads Ambassador

The Lunapads Ambassador Program was created out of a desire to nurture our greatest asset: the special relationship we have with our customers. Becoming an Ambassador is not just about sharing the Lunapads and Pads4Girls stories, but a willingness to hold space for personal growth and social change.

If you believe in our brand and love our products, we encourage you to apply.

And it's not just about periods - Our Ambassador program is designed for those who have experienced a shift in consciousness, which usually extends into greater personal awareness of how we relate to and care for our bodies as well as our choices as consumers. The result is feeling inspired to become more intentional around sharing their experiences and the Lunapads messages of body positivity, self-acceptance and empowerment with others.

We have created a collection of special Ambassador Kits containing product samples and information, and have developed a program with resources that include tips for organizing gatherings where everything from first period stories to product education can be shared and celebrated. Sales generated as a result of Ambassador outreach can be tracked and rewarded with Lunapads gift certificates or cash commission.

The Details:

1. This is a flexible program where you can share the Lunapads love in whichever way makes most sense to you:
 - a. In person via workshops, "Red Tent" events, one-on-one conversations, fairs, farmers markets, or conferences (be creative!)
 - b. If you have an existing online or service oriented business (e.g., doulas, cloth diapering company, etc), tag on the Ambassador program
2. Everyone who purchases with your personal Promo Code will receive a 5% discount off their total order (and qualify you for your earnings)
3. Choose between the Gift Certificate and Commission model
4. There are no minimum sales quotas
5. No need to hold inventory
