

CGSA Quebec Report March/April

Quebec has been hit with heavy snow in the last two weeks of March. Most areas are off to a slow start. In the Montreal area we are struggling to get around the golf courses to remove winter protection. Most golf courses have started to remove and with nicer weather it is a race to remove covers before greens start to heat up. Quebec City and North of Montreal superintendents are fighting heavy snow. Talking to superintendents in the Quebec city region they have a lot of snow but no ice. North of Montreal golf courses superintendents are worried about the length of time greens and fairways have been covered. Opening dates could be pushed back because of the amount of snow still on courses. We will know more in a couple of weeks as to conditions we will have to deal with this spring.
