

MANITOBA REPORT

Darren Kalyniuk

Manitoba Director

The past few months have been pretty quiet here in the province with many supers away from their courses during the winter months. The weather has been very mild up until the past couple weeks with frigid temperatures. Luckily the majority of courses around Manitoba have somewhat of a decent snow cover.

Back in middle November, the MGSA held their annual conference and AGM. With no trade show, industry partners sponsored 2 & ½ days of great education for our members. Then CGSA President, Kyle Kellgren sat in at our education opportunities, as well as spoke to the group and outlined a brief description of the redesign process and findings. The MGSA board did an amazing job getting things together for the conference and lining up all the speakers. Kudo's to them and all the speakers.

This year's CGCMC in Toronto seemed to be a huge success from all the people I've talked to that had attended. I'd like to thank the OGSA, Jim Flett, the conference committee and all the CGSA staff for all their hard work putting on this fantastic show this year. Make sure to fill out the survey online. Your feedback makes this conference better every year.

I hope everyone enjoys the rest of the winter and has a great start to their season.

Regards,

Darren Kalyniuk
