The County Line...

Non-profits to courthouse?

By FRED SWIFT

An architect’s rendering of what the west front of the proposed addition to the county Government and Judicial Center might look like appeared in Sunday’s Hamilton County Reporter. I like the look of it.

County officials are generally committed to expanding the building, now 23 years old and reportedly short on space. The facility was built with the assumption that it would be expanded to the west in 20 to 25 years.

Plans call for a curved elevation with a generous use of glass which presents an impressive look for motorists entering the downtown area from the west. From the inside the windows will provide a good view toward White River and Federal Hill beyond. The expansion and new look should also fit well into Noblesville’s plans to develop the riverfront.

The expansion cost is as yet unknown, but officials say it can be handled without a tax increase through a bond issue that replaces a 1991 bond issue that is maturing soon. Or, a portion of the cost may be paid from substantial reserve funds the county has on hand.

The new expansion will house additional office space, more courtrooms and storage space which will hopefully include room for county historical archives which are now scattered around the county in town halls, museums, schools and even private homes.

Cicero receives Green Communities award from IACT

The Indiana Association of Cities and Towns (IACT) announced on September 30th which Indiana communities obtained designation as an IACT Green Community. The cities and towns of Cicero, Fishers, Union City and Whiting received their awards during the IACT Annual Awards Luncheon presented by Umbaugh, during the 2015 IACT Annual Conference & Exhibition in French Lick.

IACT launched the Green Communities Initiative in 2008 in conjunction with Christopher B. Burke Engineering, Ltd., to identify potential cost savings to communities facing budget shortfalls, promote economically competitive quality of life concepts, and ultimately serve as role models for citizens while better protecting our environment. The initiative will expand educational opportunities for municipalities and create a consolidated clearinghouse of data and programs that can be accessed by municipalities.

“This is a fantastic program that allows cities and towns to showcase their hard work and commitment to smart, efficient practices. The survey these communities completed is extremely comprehensive and gives a great deal of credibility to the Green Community designations,” IACT Executive Director and CEO Matt Greller. Representatives from participating cities had to fill out a 51-question survey in the areas of purchasing, operations, measuring success, and sample projects. Each community met the minimum score re

County, northern communities begin trail study

Hamilton County and the communities of Cicero, Arcadia, Atlanta and Noblesville are undertaking a study to determine the best route for connecting the communities of Noblesville, Cicero, Arcadia, and Atlanta via a shared use trail/path.

The County and its partner communities would like to invite the public to participate in an online survey regarding the proposed trail. The survey will help the design team develop a better understanding of the public’s desires and needs regarding the trail.

The survey and with additional information on the project can be found on the project’s Web site at: http://northhamiltontrail.com/

According to the Web site:

“The Hamilton County Highway Department in coordination with the communities of Arcadia, Atlanta, Cicero, and Noblesville is undertaking a study to identify the best routes to connect the 4 communities via a shared use path. The project will also investigate connections to several parks and schools within the study area. Several of the routes being investigated include SR 19, Cumberland Road, East 234th Street, and Jackson Street.

“The master plan will identify the routes that are most feasible, construction phasing, preliminary cost estimates, standards, and possible funding sources. Several public input meetings will be scheduled throughout the process.”

Nearly 50 percent of all vehicle crashes involving deer occur between October and December. Deer are generally more active in late October into early November during deer mating season. And with many farmers harvesting crops, deer could be on the move at anytime, encountering drivers at night.

In Indiana, deer-vehicle collisions are a growing problem. In 2019, there were 2,332 reported collisions involving deer, resulting in 165 injuries and six fatalities. This year, the Indiana Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) has partnered with the Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) to provide information on how to avoid collisions with deer.

INDOT offers tips on avoiding deer collisions

- Exercise caution along woodlot edges, at hills and blind turns.
- Use high beam headlights at night when there is no opposing traffic.
- Scan for illuminated eyes and dark silhouettes on or before and in areas near “Deer Crossing” warning signs.
- Pay special attention in areas where you have seen deer.
- Deer are most active between sunrise and sunset, especially in rural areas.
- Deer often travel in groups. If you see one, others are likely nearby. Stay alert!
- Deer-vehicle collisions will happen, but drivers can take measures to keep these collisions to a minimum. Keep your distance when deer are most active and practicing defensive driving will help reduce your chances of becoming a statistic.

Indiana State Police, INDOT warn drivers... Move over

In an effort to keep Indiana roadways safer, the Indiana State Police and The Indiana Department of Transportation are raising awareness for the state’s “Move Over Law,” which requires motorists to approach cautiously, slow down, and move over when an emergency vehicle is stopped on a roadway with emergency lights flashing. INDOT has a new video on its YouTube channel.

The “Move Over” law requires drivers to change lanes away from emergency vehicles, if you can do so safely. If not, drivers should reduce their speed 10 mph under the posted speed limit and proceed with caution. Motorists should not stop in the roadway, as this may cause reaction rear and collision with other vehicles. Failure to comply can result in fines, license suspension, or even jail time. The “Move Over” law applies to these vehicles:

- Police vehicles
- Ambulances
- Fire trucks and rescue equipment
- Highway incident-response vehicles
- Utility service vehicles
- Tow Trucks

Every year, first responders across the country are injured or killed on the job while providing emergency services to motorists along America’s highways. The “Move Over” law aims to increase safety for police, EMS professionals, tow truck drivers, and all roadside emergency and maintenance professionals.

Nothing was easy for any girls soccer team that won any of today's sectional semi-finals.

Class 2A Sectional 16 at Hamilton Southeastern featured two very close games. First up was a clash between the host and No. 4 ranked Royals and No. 7 Fishers, the defending 2A state champion. It was a scoreless contest for much of the game, until the Tigers broke through. Madi Eickel scored with 9:05 remaining in the second half. That would be all Fishers needed, as it won 1-0.

The Tigers' reward is a championship date with No. 3 Noblesville. The Millers were dealt a big scare from unranked Pendleton Heights, which scored first in the seventh minute. That 1-0 Arabian lead held through halftime.

Noblesville finally tied the game with 26:10 left in the second half, as Isabella Christian scored from 18 yards. That made the score 1-1, and things were still tied after regulation. As a result, the game went to overtime, which consists of two seven-minute periods.

The first period was scoreless, but the Millers broke through in the second period, when Madon Parish found the back of the net with 4:35 left. Noblesville hung on from there, and captured a 2-1 victory to advance to the championship in Saturday's semifinals.

Meanwhile, Sectional 17 at Carmel's Murray Stadium featured much power in the semifinals. The semi-finals began with a face-off between No. 8 Zionsville and No. 11 Guerin Catholic. In the MaxPreps national rankings, the Golden Eagles are No. 11 Guerin Catholic. In the MaxPreps and 23rd by the Semi-finals.

Grand Park to host US Youth Soccer Region II Presidents Cup

US Youth Soccer is proud to announce that Westfield, Ind., and the Indiana Soccer Association will host the 2016 US Youth Soccer Region II (Midwest) Presidents Cup, June 16-20 at the Grand Park Sports Campus.

"It is always exciting to begin planning for future US Youth Soccer Presidents Cup events, and part of that initial planning is choosing the best possible host city for each of our competitions," said John Sutter, chairman of US Youth Soccer.

The event will feature approximately 70 Boys and Girls teams in the Under-13 through Under-17 age groups competing for a Regional title and a berth to the 2016 US Youth Soccer National Presidents Cup.

"Indiana Soccer is proud to host the Region II Presidents Cup," said Region II Presidents Cup Director Angel Hall. "Westfield, Ind., is quickly becoming a destination for regional and national sporting events because of the quality of the facilities at Grand Park. Indiana Soccer is pleased to welcome and serve teams from the Midwest region for this prestigious event. Our State Association has been a strong advocate of the Presidents Cup since it started, and hosting gives us a chance to share our enthusiasm with participating teams."

Each US Youth Soccer State Association determines the path through which its teams advance to the regional competitions. Regional winners of the Under-13 through Under-17 Boys and Girls age groups will earn a berth to the US Youth Soccer National Presidents Cup, July 14-17 in Tulsa, Okla.
