

Mr Andre Huber with Huber's Deli's Swiss Veal hot sausage with caramelised onions, mustard and parsley.

HUBER'S DELI

Where: 02-K20 and 21
Open: 9.30am to 7pm, daily

Huber's Butchery, which has a store and bistro in Dempsey Hill, has now opened a delicatessen, which also serves hot sausages and its take on the Vietnamese banh mi sandwich.

Think cooked versions of its homemade gourmet sausages and a Deli Sandwich with slices of in-house veal lyoner, a type of sausage; roast pork roulade, pickled carrot and radish, and a sprig of fresh coriander, all served in crisp, airy baguettes. The rolls are made-to-order and priced at $7.80.

Aside from these food items, the 550 sq ft Huber's Deli also offers a range of cold cuts including hams, kassler or smoked cured pork, Lyoner, and air-dried hams such as Jamon Iberico and Parma ham. It will also retail 15 to 20 types of its pre-packed sausages, some cheeses and other complementary grocery items.

Huber's executive director Andre Huber, 33, says the company felt that PasarBella's market place would be a good platform for the company to launch its range of gourmet hot sausages.

For now, the deli serves four hot sausage variations: Spicy Pork with sauerkraut and bacon bits; Swiss Veal with caramelised onions, mustard and parsley; Chicken Cheese with pickles, Gruyere, parsley and spices; and a Curry Wurst with fried shallots and a curry sauce.

It will also offer a selection of specials and plans to roll out more food options later.

Customers can leave feedback about its food offerings on its blackboard.

Blackbarn is a new wine cooperative that works with about 30 boutique Australian wineries, many of which sell their wines only to club members and at their cellar doors.

Wineries in the cooperative are located all over Australia, from New South Wales to Western Australia.

There are more than 200 different wines on offer, ranging from sparkling reds and whites, to rose and Australian wine made from Spanish grape varieties such as tempranillo.

Spokane wine David Black and family farms, both in their 4th, who manage the cooperative and are also shareholders, say that 80 per cent of the wines at Blackbarn have not previously been available in Singapore. The cooperative belongs to Australian parent company Most Limited, a wine export initiative.

Prices, which are determined by the wineries, range from $30 to $150 a bottle. Discounts of about 20 per cent may apply when customers purchase at least a dozen bottles.

The cooperative has a stated aim to be a built for regional expansion, Mr Black says.

He adds: "We have selected a dozen for more affordable boutique wines and we feel that there is a niche that is not being filled."

Having travelled to Singapore often over the last decade, they saw potential in the market here and had been searching for a suitable location for a retail space for about 12 years before learning about PasarBella last year.

The cooperative also plans to work with winemakers to educate customers.

This weekend, father-and-son winemaking duo Ian and Anthony Barnard of Olive Farm Wines in Yelland, Western Australia, will be at Blackbarn to talk about their wines.

Blackbarn will also be opening a wine boutique and cafe in Chatter Road later this month.

As the business develops, Mr Blackbarn plans to source meats directly from farms and offer an on-site cooking service of having meats grilled on the spot.
