

Are you a professional or volunteer who works with older adults in the Greater Kansas City area? If so, mark your calendar for Age Positive: Ideas for an Age-Friendly Future on May 12.

This one-day conference will offer innovative ideas to help you enhance current programs and develop new ones. Learn best practices and the latest ideas for working with older adults to encourage social engagement, good health, lifelong learning and more.

Pam Seymour, SCC Executive Director and Sandra Aust, Coming of Age Program Director will be presenting at the event at Kauffman Foundation Conference Center, May 12, 2016.

Pam will speak on “Creating Support through Congregational Collaboration”, Congregational Care Teams, and Sandra will speak on Coming of Age/ Explore Your Future Program & Workshops.

Hosted by a partnership of regional organizations, this low-cost event will be held at the Kauffman Foundation Conference Center, 4801 Rockhill Road, Kansas City, Missouri.

The Age Positive conference will provide a forum for innovative program ideas, as well as workshops on advocacy, fundraising, partnership development and business planning. Jim Firman, CEO of the National Council on Aging, will provide a keynote address.

This conference is best suited for professionals and volunteers working in senior centers, community centers, libraries, park districts and other venues that offer programming to older adults.

The cost will be $25 per person and registration will open in March. Limited scholarships will be available. CEU credits pending. For more information, contact Sandra Aust 816-444-1121.
