

Your Voice Can Make a Difference

Governor Malloy's proposed budget for 2017 has the potential to decimate CT's mental health system. His proposal removes all remaining grant funding for outpatient mental health and addiction services, it cuts the Department of Mental Health and Addiction services budget by more than 10 percent, and it removes all state funding for prevention education.

Community providers like BHcare deliver effective services for those who are struggling with mental illness and addiction at a significant cost savings to the state. Our services allow individuals to work toward recovery and to live safely and independently in the community.

You have the power to save our mental health system. Contact your legislators and the Governor today and share your story; tell them why services offered by organizations like BHcare are part of the solution, rather than part of the problem.
