"Dr. Miller brings 30 years of dedicated service to the poultry industry," Don adds, "most recently as Director of Veterinary Services for House of Raeford. She previously worked in veterinary services and management positions for Merial Select, Alpharma Animal Health, and Pfizer/Zoetis Global Poultry."

Sharon earned her B.S. in Poultry Science and her Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine from North Carolina State University, Raleigh. She also completed the Avian Internship program in the College of Veterinary Medicine at NC State.

Sharon maintains Board Certification from the American College of Poultry Veterinarians. Her other qualifications include Professional Animal Auditor Certification Organization (PAACO) certification for animal welfare auditing, Hazard Analysis Critical Control Points (HACCP) compliance certification, USDA accreditation for Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), and membership in the American Association of Avian Pathologists (AAAP) and the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA).
