If you're attending the American Association of Bovine Practitioners Conference, September 16-19, next month in New Orleans, LA, please join Diamond V Dairy Advisors for a free, hot breakfast.

Hear "Strategies to Enhance Immunity and Health in Calves and Heifers" presented by Michael Ballou, PhD.

Dr. Ballou is Associate Professor of Ruminant Nutrition and Immunology and Associate Dean for Research in the Department of Animal and Food Sciences at Texas Tech University. He is a nutritional biologist whose research centers on how management and nutrition practices affect resistance to diseases and modulation of innate immune responses.

To join the Diamond V-sponsored breakfast on Friday, September 18 (6:30-7:45 a.m.), register here. Or contact a Diamond V representative. "Save the date" with the flyer attached.

At the Conference, find the Diamond V Dairy Advisors at Booth 219.

Diamond V Dairy Advisors can help your dairy business. Please get in touch anytime.

Thanks!
