

Join us for a discussion on Green Economics: Agreeing on Efficiency

You are invited to participate in a conference with energy efficiency experts and leaders. The day-long event will focus on how the ideals of “being green” intersect with the economics of “saving the green.” Together we will explore and hear examples of energy efficiency opportunities for North Dakota homeowners and business owners. The meeting will be on St. Patrick’s Day, so a good day to be green or at least wear some!
