EMSBO-MATTINGLY, MACKINTOSH ELECTED TO TOP POSTS AT NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR BUSINESS ECONOMICS

WASHINGTON, DC—The National Association for Business Economics (NABE) has elected Lisa Emsbo-Mattingly, a director of research in the Global Asset Allocation group at Fidelity Investments, president of NABE for 2015-2016, and Stuart Mackintosh, executive director of the Group of Thirty, vice president. Both will take office October 13, at the close of NABE's 57th Annual Meeting in Washington.

“During my term, I will help ensure that NABE continues to be seen as a leader in providing a measured voice in the economic arena, including advocacy for well-funded and best-in-world government data,” said Ms. Emsbo-Mattingly. “In addition to fostering an environment that encourages a new generation of business economists, I will focus on ensuring that the recently launched Certified Business Economist (CBE) program hits its full potential. It’s my belief that both areas will further encourage an environment that provides NABE members access to the training, networking, data and top-notch conferences that make them even more successful in their careers. It’s my goal to ensure that NABE continues to be associated with premier applied economics in private, public, and academic organizations.”

Prior to assuming her current position, she was head of economic research at Fidelity (2005-2010), and she also worked as an economic analyst responsible for developing econometric models of industry performance in the market.
