“CONTRASTING TRIGGERS AND DISTINCT THERAPEUTIC APPROACHES FOR PSYCHIATRIC DISORDERS”

SAVE THE DATE

Saturday March 12, 2016

@Ritz Carlton Hotel in Isla Verde

The APREBA 13th Annual Convention “Contrasting Triggers and Distinct Therapeutic Approaches for Psychiatric Disorders” is designed to meet the educational needs of the mental health specialist and general medical practitioners in Puerto Rico.

It addresses clinical challenges encountered by psychiatrists, psychologists, family physicians, general internists, and other clinicians in primary care and medical specialties. The course has been well attended by both mental health and general medical practitioners, providing opportunities for free exchange of ideas from multiple vantage points.

The program will provide up to date reviews of depression, anxiety, delirium, dementia, suicide risk, substance use, and personality patients. Updates also will be provided on, sleep disorders, manic-Depressive illness and autism among others psychiatric diseases.

This conference is to acquaint professionals who provide mental health care with evidence-based therapies that can be incorporated into their clinical practice and mental health care settings.
