Stanley McChrystal

Four Star General Stan McChrystal might be retired from the U. S. Army but is far from retired from life! He has taken his many skills and talents and continues to move ahead serving our country in many ways.

He is co-founder of the McChrystal Group, with a staff of about 90 people, consulting for a range of organizations focusing on leadership skills, management and adaptability. He believes that leadership and management lessons he learned in the military can be applied to companies as well. Organizations of all kinds need to be quicker, flatter and more communicative, he argues—in other words, they need to become a “team of teams” rather than a handful of bureaucratic silos. *

Stan McChrystal’s new book, TEAM OF TEAMS – NEW RULES OF ENGAGEMENT FOR A COMPLEX WORLD show how the challenges they faced in Iraq can be relevant to business, nonprofits and other organizations. This team of teams’ approach can work everywhere from Hospital emergency rooms to NASA and has the potential to transform organization large and small. **

“In addition to being a fascinating and colorful read, this book is an indispensable guide to the organizational change and deep appreciation of teamwork that is essential in today’s fast-moving environment.”

—Walter Isaacson, CEO of the Aspen Institute

“General Stan McChrystal’s Team of Teams is an instant classic. Best leadership book I have read in many a decade, by one of our nation’s most gifted and iconic general officers.”

—Admiral James Stavridis, USN (Ret), Supreme Allied Commander at NATO 2009–2013; dean, The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University
