About

Cars Internationale is not an automobile dealer—it is an automotive consulting company whose principal is qualified and experienced in all the areas the company offers consulting services. The business is often conducted via one-to-one interaction, where a business card is also a calling card. Our clients and friends know the website, so it is a tool of convenience for them. The website is a calling card too, but it robs us of the ability to get to know a new visitor. Let's get to know each other directly—so please return to the home page and send an email by clicking on the "Contact via Email" link, and share your interests. Thank you!
