Grandville, Michigan

real people + real presence

... a welcoming Roman Catholic family of God empowered by the Holy Spirit to grow our relationship with Jesus Christ and with one another as we worship, pray, learn and serve.

Living in Mercy

We cannot hide. No out-of-the-way room, no locked door keeps the Risen Christ away from us. He finds the way to us day after day. We recognize him, both in his repeated Easter greeting ("Peace be with you.") and in his badges beyond death (resurrected wounds in hands and side). We recognize him in bread and wine transformed. We recognize him in those who father with us—those near, those across the room, those in between. Jesus is seen on Sunday. And we are seen by him, with him, in him. Like doubting-to-Believing Thomas, we put our fingers and hands on him. And like the disciples, he breathes on us mercy and forgiveness.

- Who needs mercy and forgiveness this week?
- Who needs my merciful forgiveness? Perhaps it is someone I love. Perhaps it is someone I don't.

Prepare for next week: Read and reflect on The Third Sunday of Easter (beginning on pg. 237) in the "Living Liturgy" missal.

What are the Works of Mercy?

The Sunday of "Divine Mercy" is as good a time as any to talk about what that Catholic tradition has called the "corporal and spiritual works of mercy."

Listing the 14 works of mercy is easy; appreciating their breadth takes time.

Let's begin with the corporal works of mercy: feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, clothe the naked, visit the imprisoned, shelter the homeless, visit the sick, and bury the dead. Where do these come from? Six derive from the Final Judgment teaching in Matthew 25: "What you do for the least of these, you do for me." The seventh is grounded in traditional Hebrew respect for the body.

The spiritual works of mercy are next: admonish the sinner, instruct the ignorant, counsel the doubtful, comfort the sorrowful, bear wrongs patiently, forgive all injuries, and pray for the living and the dead. These teachings are gathered from the New Testament and 2 Maccabees in Hebrew scripture. This eclectic list was compiled later than the first to balance the temporal (worldly) and spiritual obligations we owe each other. -Alice L. Camille

The Holy Year of Mercy: Reflections ~ Collect all six

Here's a challenge: Complete all six works of mercy listed in Matthew 25. Be creative: You can literally give someone a glass of water, or provide a lonely person with the company for which he or she spiritually thirsts. You might participate in the diocesan prison ministry, or send financial support to an interfaith group like Prisoner Visitation and Support (PVC). You may care for an ill family member or someone who's sick at heart because of a difficult experience. Keep the list posted and see how many ways your family can find to serve the poor.

Building Improvement Feasibility study to begin

After extensive planning, a Campus and Facilities Master Plan has been developed and will soon be mailed to each parish household. The plan is exciting and parish leadership are very pleased how it positions our parish to continue providing the benefits and blessings of our mission.

The next step will be a "parish-wide feasibility study" to obtain parishioner feedback about the facilities plans that support our mission as a Catholic community. The feasibility study includes a combination of mailed surveys as well as some individual personal interviews.

We have hired The Breton Group consulting company to help gather and sort through parishioner feedback. You'll be hearing more about this important feasibility study following Spring Break. Until then, we pray that God's will be done here at St. Pius X Parish.

With a Grateful Heart

MEGHAN SCHAUT

Blessed and renewed is how I felt having been able to lead the music during Holy Week and Easter. What joy filled our parish! Your singing and full participation is so uplifting, and of all the parishes I know, you are the best singing congregation. During my maternity leave, I have been fortunate to rely on such a dedicated, faithful, and talented group of musicians. Our Choir, Teens, Guitar group and Cantors kept everything going seamlessly in my absence. I couldn't have asked for better subs, both parishioners, Jack Emaus and Erin Wegener, and to Julie Slezak who played at some funerals. I'm also grateful for the help of the St. Pius X staff who gracefully took over anything necessary to keep the music ministry running smoothly, and to Fr. Chris who inspires us not only with beautiful Masses, but his attention to detail. All of you together make St. Pius X so special. I look forward to worshipping with you again on April 16-17 when my maternity leave officially ends. In the meantime, please pray for Luka David to miraculously become a calm, content baby!

Growing in Christ Weekly Stewardship Report

STEWARDSHIP THOUGHT — What if the disciples stayed locked in the upper room afraid? There's a good chance we wouldn't have our Catholic faith. When I think about my life, there are times I "lock up" what God may be calling me to share. It could be my thoughts, feelings, money, or even my gifts and talents. Like the disciples shortly after Jesus' death, fear usually plays a part in not wanting to be a steward of them. I may be afraid of getting hurt, rejected, or at times failing. When I do this though, it limits what God can do through me and the things I am called to offer. God wants you and me to play an active role in building up the Kingdom. We do this by being stewards, overcoming fear or doubt, and offering up what little we may have. In doing so, God can transform the world in great and small ways. How can you be a better steward this Easter Season? Andy Rebollar, Pastoral Associate for Parish Life.

PRAYER POST: Imaginative Prayer

Following Jesus is the business of our lives. To follow him we must know him, and we get to know him through our imagination. Imaginative Ignatian prayer teaches us things about Jesus that we would not learn through scripture study or theological reflection. It allows the person of Christ to penetrate into places that the intellect does not touch. It brings Jesus into our hearts. It engages our feelings. It enflames us with ideals of generous service (David Fleming S.J. ignatianspirituality.com). Pray with this Sunday's Gospel: John 20:19-31
