

Summer Internship

We are seeking energetic, business-minded students looking for an internship that will give you hands-on entrepreneurial experience in building a new brand on your campus from the ground up.

Crunchbutton believes in supporting people to be the absolute best versions of themselves that they possibly can be and to be comfortable facing any social situation or encountering any life obstacle. We just happen to deliver food to college kids. We work with top-notch people and mentor them to be even better. We only bring on brand ambassadors that share our goals and wants to help build our one-click food delivery startup from the ground up.

We want this to be YOUR company and we're just here to help! Our company executives are here to mentor you to success.

Through this internship you'll gain experience in:

- Market Research and Strategies
- User Acquisition and Retention
- Managing Your Own Marketing Team
- Metrics and Analytics
- Community Engagement
- Sales Experience
- Human Resources

You'll also get the chance to engage in regular conferences with the founders, CEO, and marketing managers and pitch your own ideas about how you think we can further grow the Crunchbutton name. This is a mentorship-intensive position where you will learn how to run your own company and gain valuable real world experience.

We're looking for someone with:

- Excellent people skills and lots of energy!
- An interest in marketing, especially as it relates to a start-up.
- A natural knack for leadership and introducing an exciting new thing as "cool"
- A CAN-DO attitude that's all about collaborating and working as a team
- A strong motivation and genuine excitement to join OUR team and be the face of Crunchbutton at your school.

So, if we've at all peaked your interest and you think you might just be the rock star we're looking for, or just want the opportunity to work with some of our talented people, we'd love to talk to you.

Fill out the short application at the link below and we'll reach out to you soon! www.bit.ly/cbrep