The OSEP Spanish Glossary Project

Overview

The right of parents to participate in educational decision-making regarding their child with a disability is an important underpinning of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). However, for many parents, lack of understanding of the education and legal terminology included in IDEA, may limit their ability to effectively accomplish this important role. This is an especially significant challenge for parents of children with disabilities who are not native English Speakers. The OSEP Spanish Glossary was developed by the Region 1 Parent Technical Assistance Center@SPAN to ensure that educational terms related to the implementation of IDEA used in documents to promote parents' authentic participation are translated in a uniform and comprehensible way, across states, geographical regions and communities of Spanish speakers.

The Collaborative Development Process

Included in this glossary, are more than 200 education- and disability-related terms that have been translated from English to Spanish by eighteen individuals involved in providing training and information for Spanish speaking families from dozens of countries. This team, The Spanish Glossary Review Panel, worked together, developing the list of terms for translation, offering translation suggestions for each term and coming to consensus on agreed-upon translations, in order to develop this high quality product that will be useful for promoting the involvement of Spanish-speaking parents.

Including the Voices of Families

As the ultimate beneficiaries of information and materials translated using the Spanish Glossary, the perspective of parents was important in its development. When the Review Panel had completed its recommendations, focus groups of parents -- from a diversity of Spanish cultures, with children of various ages and with a broad range of disabilities -- were convened by eleven (11) Parent Centers in California, Wisconsin, Puerto Rico, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York. At each session, participants offered substantive and thoughtful feedback. The Review Panel was reconvened, considered each of the dozens of recommendations and made a number of revisions to reflect the focus group results.

A Resource to Improve the Quality of Information and Materials for Families

IDEA Parent Training and Information Centers and Community Parent Resource Centers, as well as schools, districts, states, educators and other professionals serving Spanish-speaking families of children with disabilities are encouraged to use the OSEP Spanish Glossary to: eliminate any variances in translations of these terms within their information and training materials; familiarize families with these terms so that they can be effective decision-makers in their child's life; and ensure that provide Spanish-speaking families will have information and materials that use consistent terms, if they move from state to state or community to community. With broad usage, this resource will assist families in better understanding the language of special education and early intervention that is critical for their effectively partnering with professionals and advocating for improved outcomes for their children.

The Spanish Glossary Review Panel

This Spanish Glossary Project product would not have been possible, without the commitment to authentic collaboration and consensus-building and the dedication to Spanish-speaking families demonstrated by the members of the Review Panel. These representatives from 17 Parent Centers serve families with children with disabilities who are from more than a dozen Spanish-speaking countries. The members spent numerous hours at meetings and on conferences calls struggling together to ensure that this Glossary would be a high quality document that would meet the needs of Parent Centers and others seeking to inform and engage a diversity of Spanish speakers in improving the outcomes for infants, toddlers, children and youth with disabilities. The project would like to acknowledge and thank each of the Parent Centers and the team members listed below.
