

THE ROADMAP

DOUBLE UP

Life was not meant to be lived alone. Every strong marriage needs other strong “couple friends” to do life with. Here at Highpoint, we call this “living in community.” Tonight, as you embark on your double date, use this time as an opportunity to strengthen your marriage by living in community.

Before you leave the church parking lot, hop out of your car and take a group selfie using your new selfie stick, then post it on social media. Be sure to use the hashtag #HPDateNight.

DOUBLE PLAY

Step 1: Choose a place to eat and head that way.

Step 2: On the way to dinner, enjoy the new car smell and answer the following questions:

- What was your first car?
- What’s the strangest thing that has happened to you in a car?
- What’s the most trouble you’ve ever gotten into in a car?
- If your spouse was a car, what kind would he or she be? And why?

DOUBLE DATIN’

Step 1: Get a group photo with your server, and post it to social media.

Step 2: Over dinner, enjoy some lively discussion by asking and answering the following questions:

- If your marriage had a theme song, what would it be?
- What is the strangest date you two have ever been on together?
- What is the strangest double date you’ve ever been on? (Tip: If the answer is “right now,” move on to the next question quickly!)
- If your marriage was an entrée on the menu, how would it be described?

DOUBLE DIP

Now for some sweet fun: dessert!

Step 1: We encourage everyone to go to one of the suggested dessert locations below.

Collierville: City Hall Cheesecake or Micco’s

East Memphis: Muddy’s Bake Shop or MemPops

Step 2: Choose your favorite song from the Spotify playlist, and make a karaoke video on the way to your dessert spot. Show off your talent and post your video on social media.

Step 3: Do you really know your partner? Order dessert for your spouse without them telling you what to get.

Step 4: Find some other #HPDateNight participants and take a picture with them.

DOUBLE TIME

Now for the really fun part! Ditch your double date couple and rush home to finish your date night with your spouse. We’ll let you take it from here... and please, picture posting stops here! ;)
