PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RICHARD EISENBARTH NAMED PRESIDENT & COO OF CINI-LITTLE INTERNATIONAL, INC.

Richard Eisenbarth, FCSI, has been named President & COO of Cini-Little International, Inc., a foodservice, laundry and waste management consulting firm with global reach. The news was announced after the firm's quarterly Board of Directors Meeting in March by William V. Eaton, FCSI, Chairman of Cini-Little International, Inc.

Eisenbarth has worked with Cini-Little for over 30 years and most recently served as Director of Design where he oversaw projects across Cini-Little's network of regional offices. In his new role, Eisenbarth will work closely with executive team members to further grow the firm's position as a leader in the industry by maintaining a presence in prospering markets, strengthening relationships with key clients and expanding the company's portfolio of cutting edge, high profile projects.

"Cini-Little has a long history of strong leadership, and I look forward to building on this tradition to lead our company to the next level. This role also brings tremendous opportunity to grow our unique approach and continue to provide our clients with creative and responsive solutions," said Eisenbarth.

Theodore Farrand, FCSI, who preceded Eisenbarth as President & COO of Cini-Little International, Inc., will assume the position of Director of MAS (Management Advisory Services). Farrand will be instrumental in growing the company's MAS practice.

"Ted has been an outstanding mentor and partner; succeeding him as president is the natural evolution of that partnership," said Eisenbarth.

"Dick's leadership will take our practice to the next level as we continue to provide world-class, award-winning designs and programs for our clients," said Ted Farrand. "Our long-standing professional relationship is built on trust and mutual admiration, and as Director of MAS, I look forward to working with him to expand the firm's portfolio and grow our unique approach to foodservice, laundry and waste management consulting services."

Dick provides strong leadership through his high standards for design excellence combined with his many years of working closely with our clients to make their visions possible.

"Dick's longevity with the firm has guided us to past successes that will help shape our future as a company," said Eaton. "I have the utmost confidence in him to take this opportunity and build it into another successful chapter for Cini-Little by continually inspiring our clients and employees."
