

Hi Everyone,

This spring we will help host a series of community dialogues on the future of West Virginia's economy.

As part of this effort, West Virginia Public Broadcasting has produced a website called "What's Next for West Virginia." On this site, people are asked to state their vision for West Virginia's future in six words. You can share your thoughts through Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, tumblr, or email using the tag #WVNextIn6.

Please let me know if you know of a pastor or congregation that might be interested in hosting a community dialogue on West Virginia's economic future. Please also feel free to share this with your communications director.

The Center for Civic Life will hold facilitator training for the community dialogues in early May.

Thank you!

Peace,

Jeff
