

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

"As attorneys whose practice focuses on federal, state and local regulation of the alcoholic beverage industry, in one word, the Council for Quality Growth means "access." The Council provides us with access to new ideas and trends in regional and local development. The Council hosts forums where we have access to the most knowledgeable professionals with whom we can collaborate and to whom we can refer our clients. The Council provides us with access to governmental officials. This access helps us to gain a better understanding of our region, to consider the impact of growth and development issues on our clients' businesses and helps us to more effectively serve our clients."

-Michael Sard, Partner

"The Council for Quality Growth is an invaluable resource to SAFEbuilt. Their membership is comprised of thought leaders from around Georgia committed to making their communities better. The opportunity to network with and learn from such an innovative group has been very insightful."

-Dexter Sullivan, SAFEbuilt

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

ROBBINS

ROBBINS·ROSS
ALLOY·BELINFANTE·LITTLEFIELD LLC

"The Council provides us with unique opportunities to stay abreast with what is happening in the field, learn what is important to Atlanta's business leaders, and impact policy that governs our clients' business models and effects growth."

-Josh Belinfante, Partner

"Our participation in the Council for Quality Growth ensures that we are part of sustainable, responsible development, a principle that guides our firm's own business practices and growth as well. The Council keeps us informed of important issues and developments that affect our projects and clients, the kind of stuff you can't afford not to know. We are most appreciative of the opportunities to interact with our current and future clients and teaming partners outside of a specific business pursuit setting-building relationships in this atmosphere positions us to be a trusted advisor and key figure in the marketplace, and for that, we are humbly indebted to CQG."

- Rob Ross, P.E., Vice President

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

"The Council for Quality Growth has been of great value to Columbia Engineering and Services, Inc. by providing enhanced access to decision makers. We are proud to be involved with the Council for many years as we worked on more projects than could be named. Many thanks to the Council for the great group of professionals who are members."

-Louis Young, President

"Pope and Land has developed or invested in most of Atlanta's active urban and suburban regional activity centers. Our membership in the Council provides us with immediate access to a breadth of knowledge and insight because of the Council's information, network and regional footprint."

-Mason Zimmerman, Senior Vice President

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

"The Council for Quality Growth serves as a tremendous partner and ally for the Cumberland CID as we work to promote responsible growth in the Cumberland area. The Council serves as an advocate and incredible resource on issues that are important to the Cumberland CID, specifically in the areas of transportation, development and quality of life improvements. The synergy between the leadership of the Council and our own leadership allows us to work together as partners in fostering growth in our region."

-Tad Leithead, Chairman

"LAI Engineering enjoys a long standing relationship with the Council for Quality Growth. Because of the important information shared by the Council we are able to continue our corporate growth by staying involved in the important issues affecting the Atlanta Region as well as individual municipalities. As a trusted advisor to the development, municipal, and infrastructure community, LAI benefits from the numerous opportunities afforded us by the Council for Quality Growth. We appreciate everything the Council does to make the Atlanta Region such a vibrant and exciting place!"

- Jim Lowe, P.E., CEO

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

"The North Fulton CID considers its membership in the Council to be an investment in our community and in our region. The Council is able to leverage our resources to advocate for infrastructure improvements and responsible growth."

-Kerry Armstrong, Chairman

THE GALLOWAY LAW GROUP

"The Galloway Law Group is able to help formulate policy and legislation critical to the growth and development industry, through our involvement with the Council for Quality Growth. By bringing together a wide range of solutions-oriented professionals, public officials, and business and community leaders, the Council is able to develop and share innovative policies, tools and ideas and promote working relationships at the local, regional, and state levels. Thank you CQG for almost 30 years of service to the development industry!"

- Woody Galloway, Partner

At the Council for Quality Growth we are always working for our members to improve their bottom line. We recently asked some of our members why they joined the Council, and below is a collection of some of their responses.

"AGL is proud to be a member of an organization, the Council for Quality Growth, that looks to improve the future of metro Atlanta through growth and diversity. Having productive interaction with members from various sectors fosters an environment where the very best practices are adopted for a more progressive business community."

-Bryan Batson, President

"Coro became involved with the Council in its early days as a means to facilitate communication with various development departments throughout the metropolitan area. Having a voice and a resource has been incredibly important to us as we have developed, redeveloped, acquired and sold properties over the years. In addition, the Council has been a wonderful conduit for interacting with our peers, allowing us to create relationship[s] we might never [have] had, to learn and grow from the best."

-Patti Pearlberg, Vice President and Partner

"As a charter member of the Council for Quality Growth, we have always supported this important organization and its efforts to make our region a great place to be.

Like the Council, we work very hard to improve economic and community development within the areas we serve. The Council is important to Jackson EMC because it allows us a seat at the table of all interested parties participating in the forum of development policy and resolving growth issues effectively. The Council's public policy team is a great resource for us as well as they work toward positive results within the political and regulatory environment."

- Randy Dellinger, Gwinnett District Manager